Release notes
Medical Eponyms for the Palm OS
Version 1.9

September 9, 2008
Andrew J. Yee, MD
yee@post.harvard.edu
http://eponyms.net

1.9 (September 9, 2008)

- Split heme/onc and ob/gyn into separate categories, multiple copyedits.

1.85 (July 25, 2006)

- Now over 1600 eponyms!

1.84 (August 14, 2005)

- Now 1580 eponyms!

1.83 (January 31, 2005)

- Now 1550 eponyms!

1.82 (July 24, 2004)

- Now 1520 eponyms!

1.81 (April 30, 2004)

- Added 15 eponyms since last update, now 1500 eponyms!

1.80 (February 2, 2004)

- Added over 20 eponyms since 1.70
- Increased support for navigation bar in Tungsten T3

1.70 (November 10, 2003)

- Added over 60 eponyms since 1.69
- Includes remember last category feature
- support for Tungsten T3 screen

1.61-1.69 (May 19, 2003)

- Added over 200 more eponyms since version 1.5, corrected some spelling errors; over 1400 eponyms total.
- Minor improvement with navigation in version 1.68 for Palm OS 5.0 (mainly scrolling up and down after look up).
- New icons thanks to Dr. Karam with version 1.65.

1.6 (May 7, 2002)

- Includes option for filtering within a category for eponyms concerned with signs, procedures, etc.

1.5a (April 28, 2002)

- Now over 1200 eponyms. Added about 40 more eponyms since update in October 2001 and 20 more eponyms since April 23, 2002 (version 1.5).
- It is now a stand alone application and does not require additional readers.
- Special thanks to Dr. Mathias Tschopp for creating the client.
- JFile database and other types of databases for Palm or Pocket PC OS may be downloaded from my website for those interested.